Haydn House Eisenstadt

JOSEPH HAYDN, HIS LIFE, HIS MUSIC

Being the former residence of the renowned composer the Haydn House is an authentic historical location. When he got promoted to music director at the Esterházy court Joseph Haydn acquired the baroque house and lived there together with his wife Maria Anna Theresia for twelve years. Embedded in the baroque town of Eisenstadt, it is a gem of Burgenland's cultural history and a musician's memorial of international importance. The rooms are decorated with original furniture of Haydn's time and the historical wall paintings have been carefully uncovered. Visitors are taken back in time to the baroque period and to the former home of the composer. This is where he lived, this is where he composed.

PERMANENT EXHIBITION

29 Mar.–11 Nov. 2019

Joseph Haydn – His Bourgeois Life

Nowhere else is the private life and creative work of Joseph Haydn portrayed so comprehensively. In painstakingly reconstructed rooms, including kitchen and bedroom, we encounter the diverse personality of Joseph Haydn. The permanent exhibition displays Haydn's musical opus including his piano music, his string quartets and the great oratorios "The Creation" and "The Seasons". The exhibits include original portraits of Joseph Haydn, letters, musical scores and dedications as well as rarities such as a fortepiano built by Anton Walter in 1780. Haydn's private life is addressed by objects such as a portrait medallion of his wife Maria Anna Theresia and a letter written by his mistress to her son who is said to be Haydn's illegitimate child.

Joseph Haydn – PUPIL – TEACHER – PIONEER

This year's special exhibition focuses on the persons who were the first to encounter Haydn's music and his unique style of composition: his pupils and musicians. Even later generations, from Haydn's time until now, were driven by the love for his music and were eager to spread his music throughout the world. Dedications, portraits, writing instruments, a metronome, a "Flötenuhr" and historical textbooks from Haydn's time are all displayed in the exhibition.

Haydn Herb Garden

SECRETS FROM MRS. HAYDN'S GARDEN

When Joseph Haydn and his wife Maria Anna Theresia bought a house in Eisenstadt they additionally acquired a kitchen garden. Today the herb garden and its great variety of baroque herbs are waiting to be rediscovered. From May to September the baroque garden offers all kinds of herbal treasures. It provides a wide range of vegetables, unfamiliar herbs, eatable flowers and various other curiosities of Mrs. Haydn's kitchen. Lilies, irises and roses have been used in the production of fragrant carpets and perfumes. Marigold salve and rose powder nourish the skin even in present times.
